

COTTON AND WEATHER.
COTTON, market update, closed in Liverpool yesterday at eight in New York at 12½c.
Atlanta at 11½c/80c.

Daily Weather Report.
OFFICER'S OFFICE, SIGNAL CORP., U. S. A.
KIRKLAND HOUSE, November 21, 1879, 8 A.M.
All observations taken at the same moment of accurate time.

THE FIELD—THE FARM—THE GARDEN.

Loss—How?—Manure—Plowing—Gomarginas—Compound Feed—Look Farmland—The Farmer—Better Farming—Healthy Food—House Plants—Hygiene.

OLD LITTLE FARMERS BOYS.

They drive home the cows from the pasture, Up through the long steady lane, Where the quail whistles loud in the wheat fields, That are growing fast. They go to the straw stack and shadow, Where the hens and the turkeys have laid, And the chicks are pecking at the chickens in the nests the pullets have made. They seek in the thick waving grasses, The winter snows, the frosty snows. Then gather the first crimson snows, And the first crimson roses. And sing with the laughter of child hood, Boys beginning over with mirth, And sing with the birds in the wild wood, Cheery songs that shall gladden the earth.

For they who live best are strongest, The humble and poor harder work their children, Shall grow mighty men of states. The old man and wife of our land, The swaddled, the chisel and mallet, Of these boys who are active through childhood, Their hearts are overflowing with mirth, Who sang with the birds in the wild wood, And sang with the birds in the earth.

THE FARMER.

Now all life in the country has care, we all know. Much actually takes place from the time the seeds are sown in the ground until the crops are gathered and the farmer would rather not have had occurs. In imagination there are fears of rain, of worms, and other things that lie upon the crops, and that may destroy them. If nothing troubles the crop or destroys them, and they are made and gathered away in barns and houses, then the farmer cannot hold his arms to rest through the winter. Some one might say that seed is supplied for the first, animals must be fed and housed; gates and fences must be looked after, horses, tools, wagons, etc., must be cared for. And in some instances land must be prepared for the next crop. Yet the largest olive-oil factory in this country, we believe, is in Boston. It has a capacity of 8,000 barrels per day, and it is very hard to keep up with orders.

The merchant, or the physician? Ah! an angry boxer whose liver is spent in fierce tumult, either in a contest to win fame, or to size and hold on to great wealth? Farmer, or the earth is the first source of all wealth and through your hands the staff of life to others as well as to yourself must pass, and it is for you to retain sufficient of that which you create, and you should be happy in having a little more than the reasonable desire of your nature satisfied.

Farmers have had a hard time since the war, but now their skies are brightening; yet it is for them to bring about such a change.

—From the Domestic is as good a well-made Sewing Machine can be sold, and it is undoubtedly the CHEAPEST (in the end) Machine to buy. But it does not compete with the low-priced Machines of the day. They have one class of goods, we have a different market for our goods. Our goods are to meet the wants of the people of the community who can understand and appreciate real excellence and whose necessities do not compel them to go with an inferior article.

WHOLESALE J. CRAIG & CO., 40 Whitehall St., & RETAIL, 18 E. Broad St., ATLANTA, GA.

We are ready for test and test may be proposed, to demonstrate the justness of our claim to superiority. G. & Co.

28c March 7th.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

—Mr. Daniel Danvers.

The Sunday Gazette.

Opera House—Frasier-Tiffany Combination.

Buggies at auction—W. C. Morris & Co.

Attorneys at law—A. Candler & Thompson.

Fortune quilted coverlet—A. Fletcher, Belmont & Co.

Embroidery—H. H. Art Illustrations.

The Constitution.

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 22, 1879.

PERSONAL MENTION.

H. G. Smith, of Macon, is in the city.

—Oris Hill, of Braswell, is in the city.

—W. H. Braswell, of Greenville, was in Atlanta yesterday.

J. D. Alexander, editor of the Griffin News.

J. B. Robinson and C. C. Robinson, of Social Circle, are in the city.

General P. M. B. Young and Mrs. Wely, of Cartersville, were in the city yesterday.

Burney Frost and A. E. Thornton, of LaGrange, are in the city.

T. R. Jones, of Bartow, visited Atlanta yesterday.

Mr. A. R. Burdett, of Newman, was in Atlanta yesterday.

A. C. Cornacher, of Augusta, is in the city yesterday.

George J. Jones, of Griffin, was in the city yesterday.

A. D. Dunson, V. A. Frost and Miss Violin Frost, of LaGrange, are in the city.

—John T. Henderson, of Chattanooga, is on a visit to the city.

John T. Henderson, of the state agricultural bureau, is visiting Savannah.

Fred Bower is in the city on a visit to his numerous friends.

J. E. Henly, of Campbellton, Ga., is in the city.

James A. Spence, of Lawrenceville, was in Atlanta yesterday.

James J. Conner, of Dublin, is in the city.

J. H. Mount, of Forsyth, was in the city yesterday.

Ely Stone, agent of the McKee Rankin combination, is in the city.

The Oates music company reaches Atlanta on Saturday with the guests of the Markham family.

Spencer Pritchard, agent for the Frayne-Tiffany combination, is on a visit to the city.

Miss Flora Hoyt, daughter of Colonel Frayne, is in the city.

—John F. Kier and his charming bride, Miss Eddie Hood, of Cuthbert, reached Atlanta yesterday, accompanied by Mr. Ogood Sanders, who went with Major Kier on his happy trip to Cuthbert.

S. S. Williams, of the Atlanta Journal, the Capital Express made us a pleasant call last evening. Mr. Cunningham visits Atlanta in the interests of his excellent weeding service. We hope that he will meet with good success.

—Officer Flynn, of the police force, is without doubt one of the most prompt and efficient members of the body. He has served the city in a manner eleven years and during that time has not missed but eleven days on account of sickness. This is a hard record to beat.

A Lost Girl.

BOLTON, November 21.—EDGAR CONSTRUCTION.—On yesterday evening there was a little girl, ten years old, eleven years old, came to where I was working near the four-mile post on the Western and Atlantic railroad. She said she had left her home in Marion two days before. Said her name was Lena Bostwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bostwick, of Marion. Said her father was a machinist or boiler-maker and that he lived in Marietta and went hunting every Saturday night. She was dressed in a coat, cap, dark stockings, dark water-proof and checked sun bonnet. If her parents or friends live in Atlanta they can find me by going to Mr. Agricola's, in Marietta, or to Mr. and Mrs. Bostwick's, far on the train trip to Marietta yesterday evening from Boltonville. Asst. appeared to be in considerable trouble about being away so long. Please insert a short notice in your paper, naming little girl, as her friends or relatives may be anxious to know of where she is. J. W. BENNETT.

EDGAR CONSTRUCTION.—2nd section, W. A. R. R. Co.

The Battle of the Wiley Redding.

EDGAR CONSTRUCTION.—Give me space enough in your columns to set forth the report of the hand-to-hand combat between Captain Connolly, of the police force, and Wiley Redding, who gave in a late number of the Dispatches a full account of the article before trial. I did not get my information from Captain Connolly, and he had nothing whatever to do with the article except to protest against its appearance the next morning.

BRUNSWICK.

The Atlanta Six.

Mr. James informs us that the Atlanta 6 per cent bonds are going steadily.

The attention of the bondholders has not been fully directed to the fact that the bonds are as safe as United States bonds and are to be paid at par. The entire issue was $50,000.

The bonds are to bear 6 per cent, half a week and probably $90,000 have gone.

There need be no apprehension that they will remain on the city's hands.

AGRICULTURAL.

THE FIELD—THE FARM—THE GARDEN.

Loss—How?—Manure—Plowing—Gomarginas—Compound Feed—Look Farmland—The Farmer—Better Farming—Healthy Food—House Plants—Hygiene.

OLD LITTLE FARMERS BOYS.

They drive home the cows from the pasture, Up through the long steady lane, Where the quail whistles loud in the wheat fields, That are growing fast. They go to the straw stack and shadow, Where the hens and the turkeys have laid, And the chicks are pecking at the chickens in the nests the pullets have made. They seek in the thick waving grasses, The winter snows, the frosty snows. Then gather the first crimson snows, And the first crimson roses. And sing with the laughter of child hood, Boys beginning over with mirth, And sing with the birds in the wild wood, Cheery songs that shall gladden the earth.

For they who live best are strongest, The humble and poor harder work their children, Shall grow mighty men of states. The old man and wife of our land, The swaddled, the chisel and mallet, Of these boys who are active through childhood, Their hearts are overflowing with mirth, Who sing with the birds in the wild wood, And sing with the birds in the earth.

THE FARMER.

Now all life in the country has care, we all know. Much actually takes place from the time the seeds are sown in the ground until the crops are gathered and the farmer would rather not have had occurs. In imagination there are fears of rain, of worms, and other things that lie upon the crops, and that may destroy them. If nothing troubles the crop or destroys them, and they are made and gathered away in barns and houses, then the farmer cannot hold his arms to rest through the winter. Some one might say that seed is supplied for the first, animals must be fed and housed; gates and fences must be looked after, horses, tools, wagons, etc., must be cared for. And in some instances land must be prepared for the next crop. Yet the largest olive-oil factory in this country, we believe, is in Boston. It has a capacity of 8,000 barrels per day, and it is very hard to keep up with orders.

The merchant, or the physician? Ah! an angry boxer whose liver is spent in fierce tumult, either in a contest to win fame, or to size and hold on to great wealth? Farmer, or the earth is the first source of all wealth and through your hands the staff of life to others as well as to yourself must pass, and it is for you to retain sufficient of that which you create, and you should be happy in having a little more than the reasonable desire of your nature satisfied.

Farmers have had a hard time since the war, but now their skies are brightening; yet it is for them to bring about such a change.

—From the Domestic is as good a well-made Sewing Machine can be sold, and it is undoubtedly the CHEAPEST (in the end) Machine to buy. But it does not compete with the low-priced Machines of the day. They have one class of goods, we have a different market for our goods. Our goods are to meet the wants of the people of the community who can understand and appreciate real excellence and whose necessities do not compel them to go with an inferior article.

WHOLESALE J. CRAIG & CO., 40 Whitehall St., & RETAIL, 18 E. Broad St., ATLANTA, GA.

We are ready for test and test may be proposed, to demonstrate the justness of our claim to superiority. G. & Co.

28c March 7th.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

—Mr. Daniel Danvers.

The Sunday Gazette.

Opera House—Frasier-Tiffany Combination.

Buggies at auction—W. C. Morris & Co.

Attorneys at law—A. Candler & Thompson.

Fortune quilted coverlet—A. Fletcher, Belmont & Co.

Embroidery—H. H. Art Illustrations.

The Constitution.

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 22, 1879.

PERSONAL MENTION.

H. G. Smith, of Macon, is in the city.

—Oris Hill, of Braswell, is in the city.

—W. H. Braswell, of Greenville, was in Atlanta yesterday.

J. D. Alexander, editor of the Griffin News.

J. B. Robinson and C. C. Robinson, of Social Circle, are in the city.

General P. M. B. Young and Mrs. Wely, of Cartersville, were in the city yesterday.

Burney Frost and A. E. Thornton, of LaGrange, are in the city.

T. R. Jones, of Bartow, visited Atlanta yesterday.

Mr. A. R. Burdett, of Newman, was in Atlanta yesterday.

A. C. Cornacher, of Augusta, is in the city yesterday.

George J. Jones, of Griffin, was in the city yesterday.

A. D. Dunson, V. A. Frost and Miss Violin Frost, of LaGrange, are in the city.

—John T. Henderson, of Chattanooga, is on a visit to the city.

John T. Henderson, of the state agricultural bureau, is visiting Savannah.

Fred Bower is in the city on a visit to his numerous friends.

J. E. Henly, of Campbellton, Ga., is in the city.

James A. Spence, of Lawrenceville, was in Atlanta yesterday.

James J. Conner, of Dublin, is in the city.

J. H. Mount, of Forsyth, was in the city yesterday.

Ely Stone, agent of the McKee Rankin combination, is in the city.

The Oates music company reaches Atlanta on Saturday with the guests of the Markham family.

Spencer Pritchard, agent for the Frayne-Tiffany combination, is on a visit to the city.

Miss Flora Hoyt, daughter of Colonel Frayne, is in the city.

—John F. Kier and his charming bride, Eddie Hood, of Cuthbert, reached Atlanta yesterday, accompanied by Mr. Ogood Sanders, who went with Major Kier on his happy trip to Cuthbert.

S. S. Williams, of the Atlanta Journal, the Capital Express made us a pleasant call last evening. Mr. Cunningham visits Atlanta in the interests of his excellent weeding service. We hope that he will meet with good success.

—Officer Flynn, of the police force, is without doubt one of the most prompt and efficient members of the body. He has served the city in a manner eleven years and during that time has not missed but eleven days on account of sickness. This is a hard record to beat.

A Lost Girl.

BOLTON, November 21.—EDGAR CONSTRUCTION.—On yesterday evening there was a little girl, ten years old, eleven years old, came to where I was working near the four-mile post on the Western and Atlantic railroad. She said she had left her home in Marion two days before. Said her name was Lena Bostwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bostwick, of Marion. Said her father was a machinist or boiler-maker and that he lived in Marietta and went hunting every Saturday night. She was dressed in a coat, cap, dark stockings, dark water-proof and checked sun bonnet. If her parents or friends live in Atlanta they can find me by going to Mr. Agricola's, in Marietta, or to Mr. and Mrs. Bostwick's, far on the train trip to Marietta yesterday evening from Boltonville. Asst. appeared to be in considerable trouble about being away so long. Please insert a short notice in your paper, naming little girl, as her friends or relatives may be anxious to know of where she is. J. W. BENNETT.

EDGAR CONSTRUCTION.—2nd section, W. A. R. R. Co.

The Battle of the Wiley Redding.